BANKING COM. AP. PROVES NEW BANK

ARTICLES OF ASSN. READY FOR SUBMISSION

off than most of them. This is a time when everyone should pull together, and, if we do that, there need be little fear but that Grayling will continue to prosper and to grow. If they are any pet jealousies among us, they should be forgotten—for the good of Grayling.

WORK ON HIGHWAY TO GRAYLING SOON

Affairs for the establishment of a new bank are rapidly shaping themselves so that it looks as though within a month or six weeks it should be about ready to open for business.

The application for permission to organize has been approved by the State Banking commission. Representatives of that commission have been looking into the set-up of the proposed new bank and find everything satisfactory. The commission reports that it is receiving many applications for permission to establish new banks but finds that many have to be denied for one reason or another. This isn't always due to the lack of finances but rather because of faulty organization. Thus it may be seen that the incorporators of the proposed Grayling State Savings bank have presented a set-up to the commission that is sound and deserving of approval.

John Braun, who will assume the responsible position of cashier and manager, says that their articles of association are now ready and will be submitted to the State commission for further approval.

To use a slang expression, "It won't be long now" before Grayling will again be enjoying the privilege of banking facilities. We have learned what it means to be without a bank and especially the business interests, have felt its inconvenience and know something of how difficult it is to do business without a bank.

Few people realize what the establishment of this bank in Grayling is meaning to those having deposits in the now defunct Bank of Grayling. There is little doubt but that the signers of the Grayling bank will be able to pay out a greater portion of the depositors' money than they could had they been forced to make quick settlements and sales of such assets as are available. Forcing sales means lower returns in money. And to the collections of obligations owing the bank would very probably be pressed to the limit and necessarily causing considerable hardship and the sacrifice of collaterals on file for securities. Business would be due for a paralyzing and everywhere there would be, we believe, a lot of hardship and financial worries.

While a new bank could probably not avoid this condition entirely, still it would, we feel certain, alleviate a lot of such trouble. Esbern Hanson and members of the Hanson family, who assume about half of the financial obligation of the new bank, and the other stockholders are deserving of the thanks and gratitude of the public, and particularly those who have deposits in the former bank, for making it possible for Grayling to have a good, sound banking institution here at home. It means a saving in our property values too that offers added security; and the preservation of property values that otherwise would be sure to feel tremendous depreciation.

It sometimes seems that this matter has been slow in developing, but it takes considerable time, these days, to launch banking institutions, especially when the State Banking commission is so insistent upon permitting only sound, favorable conditions to pass its approval. The Grayling State Savings bank is now a certainty. And when it opens its doors every property owner and every business should not only feel it a duty to aid in its support, but it should be a genuine pleasure as well.

In getting around the state, and talking with men from other cities we find that Grayling is much better

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL

This year the call to membership in the American Red Cross is more than ever an appeal to patriotism. The Nation is fortunate indeed to have at its command this humanitarian agency with its fifty years' experience in ministering to human needs. Through half a century the Red Cross has developed marvelous efficiency in relieving distress. Its nursing reserve, disaster personnel and health services save countless lives, prevent accidents and stem the course of disease. The Fiftieth Anniversary Roll Call occurs November 11th to 26th and we urge our fellow citizens to accord it their hearty support.

While no general canvass will be made this year, memberships can be secured at Mac & Gidley's or Central Drug Store.

HEALTH DEPT. OCTOBER NEWSLETTER

During the month of October our work was carried on about as usual. We are still endeavoring to reach as many outlying schools as possible before winter sets in.

The District as a whole has been comparatively free from communicable diseases.

A few cases of chicken-pox were reported.

One each in Roscommon and Missaukee counties.

One of these cases is now in Ann Arbor undergoing treatment; the other is making good recovery at home.

Two cases of scarlet fever were reported in Missaukee county.

In certain schools there have been quite a few cases of skin diseases, necessitating the exclusion of these children from school until the condition is remedied.

During the month we examined 200 pupils in 11 different schools. In addition, 487 injections against diphtheria were given and of these, 142 pupils completed the treatment.

One hundred and twelve pupils were vaccinated against smallpox.

The children are entitled to have a blue star placed opposite their name on the School Health Record chart when they have been immunized against diphtheria or smallpox.

Although we plan to have pre-school clinics during the spring and summer for examinations and immunizations, we feel that these children should be immunized at the same time as the school child. Therefore, we have encouraged the parents to bring their younger children to the school for immunizations with the older children. During the month we completed 20 pre-school immunizations against diphtheria and 21 against smallpox.

Among other activities the nurses have been busy seeing that the children are weighed and measured.

They have been instructing the use of the "School Health Record" chart and giving talks to the children on health habits.

Eight schools in Roscommon and Crawford counties have procured new handwashing outfits and first-aid kits. Some of the schools are giving box socials and other forms of entertainment to raise money for school needs. One school is using this money for hot lunch equipment.

Our Director of Nurses, Miss Edna L. Hamilton came from Detroit to address the Child Health Committees in each county.

Through her talks she stimulated the interest and efforts of the different members.

The Kalkaska County committee has established a loan closet, the purpose of which is to loan necessary sick room appliances.

Dr. Beareich will leave Lake City December 1st to go to Michigan Lake for six weeks. The children are much interested in the condition of their teeth.

About 30 patients had their dental work fully completed during the month.

One child was willing to get up at three o'clock in the morning in order to get a ride into town to get his dental work attended to.

Another child set out to walk the thirteen miles to Lake City.

The sanitary inspection program consisted chiefly of inspections of school buildings. Forty-six schools were inspected and of these 15 were approved.

At the time of the school inspections the water supply was also inspected and a sample sent to the state laboratory for analysis.

The dairies and sources of milk supply for the District were visited and during the month of October several improvements made.

CHRISTMAS GREETING CARDS

You're going to need Christmas cards. Why wait until the rush. We have some beautiful new lines of samples; handsome ones at little cost and exquisite designs at slightly higher prices. No other family in Grayling will have cards like yours for we do not sell duplicates. Phone No. 111 for samples or call and see them. All plainly priced.

Avalanche Office.

No party is a complete success these days unless somebody makes a fool of himself.

Leisure is just a dead weight unless we have a regular job to do at the close of our vacation.

BUSINESS IS GOOD IN THE SCHOOLS

Business is good in the schools and steady demand for products which serve genuine and important uses and when that demand is being fairly met.

Measured by this standard the business of education has never been so good as in the United States at this moment.

There are more young people in school than ever before. They are in charge of the most alert and best trained teachers that have ever blessed the nation. These teachers are presenting the strongest curriculum so far perfected and are seeking to make it better. They are working in the best buildings that ever housed the nation's millions of young students. They are supported to a remarkable degree by an intelligent and sympathetic public.

These teachers are working at their problems. During the summer of 1931 more than 270,000 of them took special courses to improve their service. Over 700,000 in the State Education associations and 269,000 in the National Education Association are cooperating to improve education.

More than 5,000 are life members of their great professional body.

Tens of thousands of school faculties are holding regular meetings to study their problems.

These facts are of the utmost significance for men and women in every other line of business. They mean that better times lie ahead.

The first wealth is human wealth.

Upon that all other wealth is built.

These thirty million students are are learning to live on a higher health and vitality. They are being taught to value a fine home life and to plan for it. They are learning as a living enterprise. They are learning citizenship by practicing it in the schools. They are being trained in essential vocational skills.

The higher us of leisure are opened up to them in the fine arts and in the recreational and social life of the schools. Above all, they are seeking to develop fine character—to quicken ambition, aspiration, courage, to cultivate industry and thrift;

to instill all the virtues that underlie

the excellence and happiness of life.

These products of the school are the pride of America. They are the basis of all other production and the promise of a quality of consumption such as the world has not yet seen.

The business man who is prepared to

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The second regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Alexander. Members responded to roll call with "Suggestions for Child Management," after which the usual business session was held. The subject for the evening was "Child Study," and topics as assigned were very well given by the following:

What the parent may expect of the teacher—by Mrs. Daisy Barnett.

What the teacher may expect of the parent—by Miss Eva Dorr.

The use of leisure within the family group—by Mrs. Eva Joseph.

Mrs. Margrethe Hommington also gave an interesting report of the district meeting held in Bay City May.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. LaVere Cushman instead of with Mrs. Barnett.

It takes a lot of energy to make up for bad judgment.

MRS. J. W. SORENSEN PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Amanda Sorenson, wife of James W. Sorenson of the firm of Sorenson Brothers, passed away at her home on Chestnut street on Thursday morning at ten o'clock, following illness. Mrs. Sorenson's health had been poor for several years and about a year ago she suffered a paralytic stroke, which left her in a very feeble condition.

Mrs. Sorenson was formerly Amanda Anerson and was born in Palmer, Sweden, July 29, 1883. Her girlhood was spent in her native home and when she was 19 years old she came to America and to Grayling, which has been her home since.

While a young woman she was a dressmaker by trade and operated a shop in Grayling for a number of years previous to her marriage. She was united in marriage to James W. Sorenson in August, 1909. Although there were no children in the Sorenson family, she brought back Miss Elsa Erickson, a niece whom she had married, who was brought up in their home.

These teachers are working at their problems. During the summer of 1931 more than 270,000 of them took special courses to improve their service.

Over 700,000 in the State Education associations and 269,000 in the National Education Association are cooperating to improve education.

ACHIEVEMENTS IN SAFETY

In spite of the terrible rise in automobile injuries and fatalities, there is a bright side to the accident problem. The organized safety movement—which was 20 years old recently—points with pride to such achievements as these:

A steady decrease in accidental deaths to children since 1922, when school safety work was inaugurated on a national scale. During this time accidental adult deaths have increased 38 per cent.

A decrease of at least 30 per cent in fatal industrial accidents in past 20 years.

A decrease of 28 per cent in the accident rates of 1600 industrial establishments reporting to the National Safety Council.

A decrease of 10 per cent in accidents involving drivers of trucks, buses and taxicabs in four years. During this time private passenger cars involved in accidents have increased 37 per cent.

This is fine fruit and the safety workers are to be congratulated. Their main problem now is to find some means of checking accidents on the highways and in homes—in the latter, 30,000 deaths occur each year. They are working in the face of great difficulties in this—difficulties that can only be removed by individual realization of the fundamentals of accident prevention.

CRIME THEORISTS

Crime is a matter in which the theorists have run rampant—usually at the expense of real crime prevention.

The anti-gun laws are a good example of this. It is pointed out that occasionally someone uses a gun with which to criminally kill or injure someone else. Even, legislate against guns.

That is all very well. What is not pointed out is that for each gun used for a criminal purpose, a thousand or ten thousand are used by honest citizens for protection or sport. It is also not pointed out that anti-gun laws, from the standpoint of enforcement, have always been something of a joke. The criminal has managed, under all circumstances, to easily obtain weapons. He probably even favors such legislation which only disarms the populace he preys upon.

If we are to legislate against guns, we may just as well legislate against knives, axes, automobiles, ropes and such household medicines as iodine. All of these have been, and can be used, in the commission of crime. It is true that they have useful and innocent purposes. But so have guns.

FOR SWEET CHARITY

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, the Military and Naval Academies will play a football game for charity in the Yankee Stadium, New York, on December 12. In spite of strained athletic relations between the schools, the Military Academy promptly offered to play the Navy in response to an appeal by the President's unemployment committee for charity football games. The Navy at promptly accepted, and the time and place decided. Col. Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, donated the use of his ball park for the contest.

Smart Fur Coat

For the youthful girl there are fur coats of sports patterns with leather trimmings and warm fur collars. The one pictured is of gray kidkin with a darker gray fur collar. Our belt-trimmed fur coat gives the right sport touch, while a plaid-trimmed hat and scarf set it off in a colorful manner.

Local Happenings

Gov. Wilbur N. Brucker has issued invitations to members of County Road commissioners to be among the representatives of the State to attend the 29th annual convention and road show of the America Road Builders association to be held in Detroit January 12th to 15th. Approximately 40,000 delegates will be in attendance, says Governor Brucker, and every state in the union and many foreign countries will be represented.

The marriage of Miss Laura Knibbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Knibbe of Crayling, to Ernest Bertl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bertl of Roscommon, took place at the Methodist parsonage at Crayling Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The service was read by Rev. H. J. Salmon, pastor of the Methodist Men's church. The attendants were Miss Bernice Golinick, Miss Mary Bertl, Ernest Bertl of Roscommon, and Kenneth White of Alpena. The couple will make their home at Roscommon.

A former old resident of Crayling, Mrs. Alice L. Hoyt, 72 years old, passed away at her home in Mt. Morris on Oct. 30 of a complication of diseases after an illness of six weeks. She was born in Viginia-ville, Genesee Co., Oct. 12, 1858, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Craven, and moved to Mt. Morris 20 years ago from Crayling. In 1888, she was married to P. M. Hoyt. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. L. G. Riley of Petoskey; two sons, Ted P. and Clifford J. of Mt. Morris; two sisters, Mrs. Libby Bolen of Flint and Mrs. Nellie Mason of Mt. Morris; one brother, Charles Craven of Frederic, Mich.; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Several members of the American Legion Auxiliary were guests of the Roscommon unit at a joint installation Tuesday evening. Besides nine members from Crayling, there were four members of the Mt. unit present, and with the Roscommon ladies made a fine gathering. Mrs. Alfred Hanson acted as installing officer for Roscommon and Mrs. John Green for Crayling. After the installation ceremonies a social evening was spent, followed by a pot luck lunch. Those from Crayling besides Mrs. Hanson included Mrs. Adolph Peterson, Mrs. L. J. Martin, Mrs. Earl Whipple, Mrs. Wilfred Laurent, Mrs. Neil Matthews, Mrs. Otto Ealling, Mrs. Albert Knibbe, Mrs. Paul Feldhausen.

Famous Cough Prescription

Almost instant relief from coughs is now guaranteed in the use of the physician's famous prescription, salt of Thoxine. It works on an entirely different principle; having a double action, it relieves the throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by cough syrup and patent medicines and the cough—topic like magic, usually with the first swallow.

Taken before retiring, Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for goiter too. Contains no chloroform or harmful drugs. Children like it. Remember—relief within 15 minutes from coughs or sore throat, or your money back. 3c, 6c, $1.00 bottles. Sold by Mac & Gidley's drug store and all other good drug stores.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

Dog was polishing up my dental machinery and putting in new parts and getting everything in good shape and proper working order. Dog is a philosopher, and while he has his mouth open so that he may more easily and efficiently do his work, he regards me with his kindly eyes of life in general. I am, of course, ill-advised to reply.

He has just bought a new motorcar, high powered, easy riding, simple to operate, and he is advising me to do the same thing. The price is moderate, he assures me, which naturally makes the prospect more alluring. He tells me about a wonderful trip he had last summer, and then he drifts to the complicated character of life as we live it now in civilized North America. Everything moves fast, everyone is trying to outdo his neighbor. We wear ourselves out in trying to get at the head of the procession which, no matter how rapidly we go, always seems to keep ahead of us. We never have a home, never quiet, never satisfied. Life seems to go more involved and more complex every year.

It was not always so. When we were young we had time to stay at home, time to sit and talk with our friends without likelihood of interruption, time to read, and if we were so disposed, time to meditate.

Dog thinks we would enjoy the simple life. He has been reading recently the story of how people live in some of the South Sea Islands. The climate is equable, there is no frost in winter and in summer the waters of the Pacific wash the shores of the Islands keep them refreshingly cool and pleasant.

It is a wonderfully simple life and no one views it in prospect it seems to bring complete relief from the complexities with which we are harassed in this Twentieth century.

I'm wondering if we would like it after all. Perpetual sunshine might grow monotonous. We would probably lose our appetite for breadfruit. We'd long for new clothes and motor cars and movies and electric lights, and all those things. Maybe life might be too simple.

Careful and wise spending will help solve our economic problems and will be of untold benefit to the farmer. Our troubles are not caused by the spending of money, but because it was spent unwisely.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Democrats Win Control of the Lower House in Next Congress—Roosevelt Defeats Smith in "Popularity Contest."

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

THERE is no longer any doubt as to which party will be in control of the house in the next congress. In Tuesday's elections the Democrats captured that somewhat dubious honor, and in consequence will now be in a position to go along with food, clothing, and homes for the needy militiamen, and with aiding the returning prosperity that is now on the way to our nation. These are the concessions altogether of the national democracy.

With these concessions the committee in which Senator Lewis is held by those who recognize his sound judgment in national matters.

JAPAN has warned Russia a second time about troop concentrations on the Manchurian frontier; China has informed the League of Nations that Japan is steadily extending its hold on Manchuria and shows no sign of complying with the league's demand for evacuation before November 16; and the Japanese forces continue their advance toward the zone of Russian influence, fighting battles with Chinese bandits and now and then bombing a Chinese town. The League of Nations is worried, and so are we.

The Moscow newspaper Izvestia charges that Japanese militarists "invented the fable" of possible Soviet interference in Manchuria in order to cover plans for an extension of their own occupation northward. The militarists hoped, the newspaper says, to "weaken the resistance of other imperialistic powers by the prospect of a conflict with the Soviet Union, a conflict much desired by imperialist circles in Europe."

The house make-up now is: Democrats, 217; Republicans, 215; Farmer-Labor, 1. There are still two vacancies to be filled. One is in the Fifth New Jersey district, and it is likely the Republicans will win there, but they will still have one vote less than the Democrats. The other vacancy in New Hampshire, too late to affect the election of the speaker.

Democrats also scored heavily in New Jersey, where their candidate, Harry Moore, won the governorship over William Bard, Jr., after a bitterly fought battle into which both of them injected national politics, standing respectively, against and for the policies of the Hoover administration. Moore's victory amounted almost to a landslide, and his admirers, all very wet, at once put him forward as a desirable candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Without opposition, Martin Sennett Conner, who is only forty years old, and a Democrat, was elected governor of Mississippi.

On the basis of incomplete returns, it appeared that Judge Ruby Laffoon, Democrat, had won the governorship of Kentucky, defeating Mayor William B. Harrison of Louisville, Republican, by perhaps 50,000 votes.

NEW YORK state had an election of its own that was interesting for two reasons: First, it gave the voters an opportunity, apparently, to express their preference as between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Al Smith, for "constitutional" amendment providing for reforestation of deserted farm lands was submitted, and it was warmly advocated by Smith. The amendment was carried by a two to one vote. Tammany and the Republicans being in favor of it. This, according to political observers, put the governor definitely on the Democratic side.

The White House and gave forth another statement, very brief, expressing his "unqualified disapproval" of the personal attack on the commander in chief of the navy by President William Howard Gardner of the Navy League. He followed up this by telling the correspondents that he had no intention of resigning from the cabinet.

The White House announced that the committee to inquire into the accuracy of Mr. Gardner's assertions would consist of Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired; John Tracy, famous engineer; Ernest Log Janke, assistant secretary of the navy; Under-secretary of State William R. Castle, and Elton Wadsworth, former assistant secretary of the treasury.

Smith's amendment was carried by a two to one vote. Tammany and the Republicans being in favor of it. This, according to political observers, put the governor definitely on the Democratic side.

The New Yorkers also elected an assembly, and though Tammany swept New York city despite the charges of political corruption, the Republicans retain control of the legislature by top votes.

MAYOR CERMACK of Chicago with several other leaders of the Illinois Democracy paid a visit to New York that was held to be of considerable political significance. He was looking over the Democratic possibilities for the Presidency in that region.

Roosevelt and Ritchie of Maryland and he let the Democrats there know very plainly that the party in Chicago and Illinois would insist on a candidate who is Senator Lewis.

In reply to a question, he said:

"If Governor Roosevelt was sent enough for Alfred E. Smith and wet enough for New York to be elected Governor, he is wet enough for us."

In addition to Ritchie and Smith, he said, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri would qualify in that respect.

Mr. Cermak, however, declared positively that the Illinois delegation in the convention would give its vote for the nomination of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and asserted Lewis should be considered not only a "favorite son" but a strong figure in the party, who is entitled to the nomination. When Senator Lewis was told of all this in Chicago, he gave out a statement in which, though he is a decided wet, he said the economic issue of jobs and food comes before the liquor question.

"I appreciate the constantly expressed endorsement of me by Mayor Cermak," said Senator Lewis, "but on the political platform being only wet or dry, I have to say I am sure the mayor and myself recognize that the present hour the American public is more concerned to know where many of its people will get something to eat before they consider what they shall have to drink."

"Also, it is more urgent at once to consider places of shelter for homeless families this winter than for places to enjoy a beverage. The pro-

AS A FOREIGNER SEES IT

The editor of a London newspaper has been spending six months in the United States visiting all sections of the country and in a parting statement he declares: "he sees on the surface of life "few signs in any American city of the severe distress which I was assured by nearly everyone would erupt in the coming winter one of the greatest social problems in American history." The standard of living is still very much higher in America than anywhere else in the world, this widely traveled observer claims, and Americans of all classes "are as affluent as any people that cannot be matched in any European country." And then he adds:

"They are more finely clothed, they eat better and more varied food. They live in more material comfort, only to be taken in by quacks when the working classes have a wider margin of personal pleasures. They cry in their own souls."

This Will Be Footwear for Chinese

Southern California has developed a new export industry. This picture is part of the huge mountain of worn auto tires gathered in Los Angeles and destined to be sent to China and Europe. In China the tires are cut up to make cheap footwear, while in Europe they are used in hard rubber products.

NEW WAY OF TRANSPORTING FISH

Success of two experimental units for the transportation of fish from hatcheries and rearing ponds to lakes and streams has caused the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation to consider seriously the possibility of adding more such units next spring.

The transportation units, designed by A. B. Cook, superintendent of hatcheries, are believed to be the only tanks of their kind in use today and it is expected that with improvements to be made in the new units such tanks will be used exclusively in the future by the state for moving all kinds of fish.

Five tanks were mounted on each truck. These tanks have a combined capacity of approximately 500 gallons of water that is continuously circulated by a gasoline motored centrifugal pump which is equipped with an automatic priming device. The water is kept at a constant level by means of a stand pipe. The tanks are heavily insulated to insure as uniform a temperature as possible.

In extremely hot weather when ice becomes necessary, the ice is placed within the stand pipe so that it does not come in direct contact with the fish. It is possible to pump water directly from the lakes and streams to the tanks, giving the fish the same water as that in which they are to be planted.

Among the advantages cited by the Fish Division of using the new tanks are: the constant aeration of the water which decreases the mortality of the fish and at the same time increases their vigor; cheaper transportation; and reduction of the number of men needed to move and plant fish.

Recently a load of fingerling perch was moved from Traverse City to Comstock Park without loss of fish. The experimental tanks are large enough to carry in the neighborhood of 10,000 five-inch trout as compared to 75 to 100 trout of this size that may be carried in the ten gallon cans formerly used. The loading and unloading of the large tanks means a saving of considerable labor.

The movement of fish from the hatcheries and rearing ponds has always been a big problem with the propagation and planting of fish. The new transportation units make it possible to move the fish rapidly and in almost the same living conditions they encounter in the rearing ponds and the streams in which they are planted.

PROGRESS IN OIL CONSERVATION

After many years of debate and experiment, the oil conservation movement seems to be making real progress at last.

Now, according to a report by the Federal Oil Conservation Board, 19 states have laws relating to the production of crude oil and natural gas.

Fifteen of these control drilling in some manner, either through regulating spacing of wells or through requiring permits to drill.

All of them have laws governing damage to productive strata, and waste utilization is covered in the statutes of 14 states.

Nine states seek, through law, to prevent production in excess of market demand, and eleven regulate production by provisions dealing with allowable percentages of open flow, gauging, etc.

Nine states have laws governing production from a common source through proration or proportional production. Three have laws dealing with utilization, or cooperative development.

Progress of this kind should prove greatly encouraging to the public which, it knows it or not, is the principal gainer when invaluable natural resources are protected, and the principal loser when they are wasted.

Phosphorescence

Certain bodies possess the quality of becoming self-luminous after exposure to heat or light. This is known as phosphorescence. The color of the light depends upon the kind of light to which the article is exposed and may vary with the nature of the substance. Calcite gives off an orange light when exposed to the sun's rays, while the glow of aragonite is green.

Chief Justice Hughes In Tribute to Red Cross

One of the finest tributes ever paid the American Red Cross and its membership was that by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, on the occasion of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of the organization on May 21 of this year. Mr. Hughes said: "The American Red Cross represents the united voluntary effort of the American people in the ministry of mercy. It is the finest and most effective expression of the American heart. It knows no partiality. In the perfection of its cooperation, there is no element of distinction by reason of race or creed or political philosophy."

"However we may differ in all things else in the activities of the Red Cross we are a united people. None of our boasted industrial enterprises surpasses it in efficiency. It moves with the precision and the discipline of an army to achieve the noblest of human aims."

"The American Red Cross is not only first in war but first in peace. The American people rely upon its ministrations in every great catastrophe. It has given its aid in over one thousand disasters. When, as we hope, war will be no more, still the Red Cross in the countries in which it will continue to function as the organized compassion of our country."

A GREAT FUTURE FOR SILVER

"Silver," said former Senator Simon Guggenheim recently, "soon will come into its own and is destined for the greatest future of all metals."

That should interest our western mining states. The return of a fair price for silver might do more to give them prosperity than any other single happening.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips Milk of Magnesia; one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It is the only medicine prescribed for 50 years.

SCHOOL NOTES

High School-Alumni Battle Approaches

With the Alumni-High School annual battle only a week and a half away we find both camps working hard. With the material they both have to work with we should see an exciting battle on Thanksgiving Eve.

It will be interesting to watch how Coach Cushman will outline his plan of battle against his former protégés. His "squad" are working hard daily and showing plenty of promise.

Coach Cushman says that it is an impossibility to name the starting lineup now. He has plenty of material with a great many players to choose from.

It is expected in the Camp of the Green and White that the Alumni will use the same offense that the Lumberjacks used, the "quiet break." If this is true the High School team must be more or less conservative in offense tactics.

Confidence seems to be the prevailing feeling of the Alumni as to the outcome of the annual battle with the H. S. On the other hand to show that they consider the outcome of the game an uncertainty they have gone outside of the Alumni ranks to obtain the coaching services of "Spike" McNeven. As usual they should have a great team. But to name the Alumni as probable winner at this early date would have to come from the most optimistic Alumni.

Ninth Grade.

The Freshmen girls' baseball team played against the Sophomore girls Wednesday night.

The pencils we ordered have arrived and are now on sale in the supply room. If you want a good pencil buy one from us.

The customary class party of the Seniors was held last Friday night. Everyone had a good time and we all know everyone enjoyed the beautiful lunch which closed the program.

The Shorthand class composed of seniors and juniors is advancing rapidly, and we wish to announce here that we hope to join as a whole class, the highest record in speed and accuracy Grayling High has ever produced.

The Senior girls won the ball game Monday night, as the Junior girls failed to make their appearance.

The English literature class have a theme to write for this six weeks. All the girls are waiting to see what kind of papers the boys will hand in as the subject is, "What feminine character, taken from Shakespeare's work—would make the best modern wife?"

Junior-Senior Magazine Contest Closes.

Last Friday was the last day of the magazine selling contest between the Juniors and Seniors. The total number of subscriptions sold was twenty-eight—the seniors selling 12 and the juniors 16. Elaine Reagan, a Junior and Forrest Annis, a Senior sold the most subscriptions.

The Juniors, having a larger class than the seniors, were supposed to sell two and a half times as many subscriptions as their opponents, or give the visitors a big pow-wow. The date for the party has not been decided upon.

The plans for the pow-wow were given to the Grand Sachem by Mr. Edmunds, the representative of the Curtis Publishing Co. These plans have been examined and the party is sure to be a success if the plans are carried out.

THE ROAD TO BETTER HEALTH

AUTOMOBILE EXHAUST GAS POISONING

(By Dr. William J. Scholz)

The danger of working on the car in a closed garage when the motor is running should be remembered at this time of year when the weather is likely to be cold and one is tempted to close the doors. The small one-car garage is particularly dangerous, the relatively small air space permitting the rapid accumulation of a dangerous concentration of carbon-monoxide.

We are studying the One Hundred Spelling Demons. Each Monday we write the words and anyone who is able to write them perfectly is excused at 3:00 on Monday. Those having a perfect paper this week were Audrey Brado, Emil Tahvonen and Jack Sparkes.

We have some new Health Readers.

They are very interesting.

The name of the book is the "Travels of a Rolling Oat."

In Penmanship class we are learning to write with ink.

We find it very different than writing with pencil but we like it very much.

Fifth Grade.

Miss Hermann, Teacher.

Grant Giffen is absent from school this week because of the death of his grandmother.
